The Mystery of 2012: Ancient Maya Teachings and Sustainable Living

An evening of ideas with John Major Jenkins

Tuesday, December 4 @ 7:30 p.m.

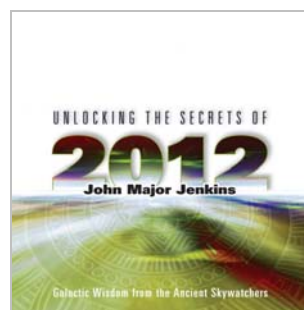

The ancient Maya calendar contains a large cycle of over 5,000 years. It is set to end on December 21, 2012. What does this mean? And why did the Maya pick this date? Colorado author John Major Jenkins has been investigating these questions for over twenty years. His findings provide tangible answers and point the way to understanding the profound discoveries of the ancient Maya, and why Western civilization is approaching a crisis point. The need for renewal is urgent, and John will discuss how ancient Maya teachings provide insights that contribute to the sustainable living movement.
